Critique:

Overall, the state of the program is runnable, but definitely containing some flaws. Prior to this week's sprint, the code was fairly cleaned, organized, and most all potential-user-errors had been accounted for, however, there are now some PUE's that may be addressed before turn in tonight and the code needs some major cleanup. The GUI is functional, but the toggle button bar is definitely not elegant. The project overall achieves the software goals, but currently not the full beauty of an excellent program.